Is there anything that can be done if a father doesn't pay his child support? He is out of the country but will be back in the States in June

12:09:17 From Rose Rickett to Everyone:

Rose in GA ...sorry, I'm late because I had trouble signing on

12:09:44 From April Spencer to Everyone:

In my situation, I left my church. Once there was no "turf war" over which one of us stayed or went, my ex husband left the church shortly afterward. The pastors since then have been supportive of me as my prediction (once he wins here he will move on).

12:10:47 From April Spencer to Everyone:

The idea that pastors would measure a checklist of actions over seeing results of those actions is stressful for the survivor. When home hurts is a great resource.

12:11:00 From Shelle Mossman to Everyone:

What was the name of that book?

QUESTION: What can you do if you signed a settlement and that calls for alimony. My attorney did not review the documents they sent to DR which state self reporting. He is not paid. DR said they are just a collector not an enforcer of alimony. They said I have to get my attorney to address it. My attorney is part of the problem. Both sides just pitch stuff back and forth to make their fees go up. I owe so now she is saying if I do not sign a contract to pay immediately she will sue me for what I owe. This is unreal.

12:37:00 From April Spencer to Everyone:

Alimony in Colorado is not enforceable but can be set up as a garnishment voluntarily. I filed an all assets lien with the the State of Colorado called a UCC-1 filing. It shows that all his assets (business and personal) are leveraged for the total sum amount of spousal maintenance over the number of years I was awarded in the decree.

Unfortunately, spousal support is tough to enforce.

The judgement lien can be enforced through collections and a suit
